

CASE STUDY · LEGALTECH WORKFLOW

reDox

How Prototype helped move from ambiguous goals to shipped software.

Situation

Real estate paralegals needed workflow automation focused on precision, compliance, and speed — not bloated feature sets.

Constraints

Limited capital, practicing-paralegal input throughout, and investor-readiness for the next funding phase.

What we did

Built a workflow automation engine with product owner and paralegal collaboration; prioritized compliance, speed, and a credible design system.

Deliverables

Workflow automation product with design system, core automation flows, practitioner-tested UX, and investor-ready demo path.

Highlights

- Built with direct paralegal practitioner input
- Design system and automation flows shipped together
- Compliance and speed prioritized over feature bloat
- Investor-ready demo path for next funding phase

Outcome: Shipped an investor-ready product efficiently with direct practitioner input — positioned for the next funding phase.
